

Library Congress Catalogue Card No.: 82-83539
Pitt County Historical Society
P. O. Box 795
Greenville, North Carolina 27834

IRISH FAMILIES, THEIR NAMES, ARMS AND ORIGINS

By: Edward Mac Lysaght, Chairman of the Irish Manuscripts Commission
(Formerly Chief Herald of Ireland)
Dublin 1972

CLANS & FAMILIES OF IRELAND

By: John Grenham with Forward by: Donald Egley (Chief Herald of Ireland)
2003

A HISTORY OF COLONIAL BATH

By: Herbert R. Taschal, Jr., Ph.D.
Edward & Broughton Co., Raleigh, North Carolina 1955

THE TYSON AND MAY GENEALOGY OF PITT COUNTY

Tyson and May Genealogy Committee
With Roger Kammerer, Genealogist

Credit is also given to William G. Rylance², Virginia Beach, Virginia

Copies of this document will be made available to Greenville Public Library, Greenville, North Carolina; Pitt County Historical Society, Greenville, North Carolina; North Carolina State Library, Raleigh, North Carolina; and Family History Library, Salt Lake City, Utah.

As has been stated by Elizabeth (Betsy) Ross, this document should be considered as belonging to the public domain, the rights to its contents being freely shared by the author, and copyable at the will of the reader. The reader may incorporate the information provided herein into other histories, but it is hoped that credit will be given to its source through footnotes and bibliographical reference. It is the spirit of sharing which brings the best rewards to genealogical research.

The author is interested in any information that may supplement, or correct, any information contained in this document. The author is particularly interested in any information that may make the connection between William Flannikin (Flanagan) of Bath, North Carolina, 1717, and Edward Flanagan and his son, Edward Wherry Flanagan, of Pitt County, North Carolina. The author, thus, invites correspondence in these regards.

² William G. Rylance's wife's maiden name was Flanagan. She was descended from Patrick Flanagan (see pp. 6-7). William G. Rylance provided information from the Norfolk, Virginia Records relative to William and Patrick Flanagan and provided the lineage of Patrick Flanagan of Bath, N.C. Mr. Rylance of Virginia Beach, Virginia, can be contacted at RIPUS1@aol.com.